

RARE AND ROBBERY.—A Hamburg correspondent of the Edgfield Advertiser writes as follows, under date of the 28th August:

On Monday of last week, the 21st instant, three negro men went to the house of Mr. Rattle, in his absence; one of the party entered the house and beat and choked Mrs. Rattle, and committed a rape upon her person, and robbed her of some little money. The party then left, going in the direction of the Bath Paper Mills. The Marshal of Hamburg, Sam. Spencer, was informed of the fact and soon after meeting with Mr. Harrison Butler, deputized him to get some help and assist him in the pursuit of the negroes. They were joined by other parties and received instructions from the Marshal of Hamburg, who was taken sick and had to stop, that if they came up with the negroes and halted them, and they ran, to fire upon them. They got information at or near Langley Mills that there were some negroes lying in the woods not far off. When they came up to them they demanded them to stand; if they did they would not be hurt, if they ran they would be fired upon. Two of the party ran and were fired upon, but with what effect it is not known, as they made their escape in the thicket. It seems the party had been joined by the fourth man, as there were four of them in the woods, engaged in playing cards. One bill of the money found with them, in their card-playing, was of a like amount as the one taken from Mrs. Rattle that morning.

NEGRO KU KLUX.—On yesterday (Tuesday) our streets were alive with ten (so-called) negro Ku Klux from Aiken, arrested and brought here to have a hearing before R. W. Cannon, Esq., United States Commissioner, by Deputy United States Marshal A. M. Cochran. From all we can gather it appears that these negroes, in company with some ten others, armed with guns and pistols, on the night of the 31st July, went to the house of Mr. Isaac Shellhouse, living some ten miles from Aiken, threatened the family, tore down the fence around the house, alarmed the ladies, and stated that they had come to arrest one Porter, accused of killing a negro; that they had reason to believe Porter was there, and they intended to have him. Porter was not there, however, but a man by the name of Peterson was, and, without a shadow of authority, they arrested him, carried him to Aiken and lodged him in prison. Mr. Cannon, the Commissioner, was busy on Tuesday hearing the evidence in the case, and expected to have another showing at the accused to-day, (Wednesday), but on Tuesday night the negroes took leave of absence, and have not yet returned. Under the circumstances, what course of action will be taken we are not advised. Capt. G. W. Croft, of the Aiken bar, was here on the part of the defence.

The New York papers contain full particulars of the frightful disaster on the Eastern Railroad of Massachusetts, from which it appears to have been the result of the grossest criminal carelessness on the part of the conductors and engineers of the two trains. The Beverly accommodation train was unnecessarily behind time and was lingering at Revere Station. The Bangor express train came thundering along, and although the conductor knew there was a train ahead on the track, he took no precautions to prevent a collision. The express train plunged into the accommodation train, completely telescoping it. The engine of the express train was so badly smashed that the scalding steam from the boiler pervaded the doomed cars, killing many who had only been injured by the collision. The kerosene oil lamps were also broken, and threw their blazing contents over the victims. The townspeople of Revere were on hand at once, and were unremitting in their attentions, but the railway officials were slow and indifferent. Public indignation is very strong against them. Among the killed were the venerable and distinguished Dr. Gannett, the Unitarian clergyman of Boston, and Rev. S. R. Muson, of the Baptist Church at Cambridge. A son of William Lloyd Garrison was among the injured. The total killed is twenty-four, and of badly injured forty, some of whom will die. No estimate is made of the slightly injured.

THE POLARIS IN GREENLAND.—The ship Ice steamer Congress, which carried stores to Captain Hall's Arctic expedition in Greenland, has returned to St. Johns, N. F., and our special despatch thence relative to the movements of the Arctic explorers will be found of great interest. Captain Hall was warmly seconded in his efforts by the Danish Inspector-General of Greenland, and had started on the 17th instant, by way of Smith's Sound, for the unknown open sea that surrounds the mystical North Pole. Our despatch gives a rather pleasant view of the voyagers at Disco. There, in latitude 70 degrees, in sight of huge glaciers, and among great numbers of icebergs, there was glorious summer. The flowers were blooming, the birds were singing, and the brooklets flowing with the same summer deliciousness that the country resorts about our own city present; while the day seemed perpetual, there being no darker night than dim twilight, by which books could be read.

The Inka (Miss.) Gazette says: "Our town needs a hotel as much as every Radical in the State needs a halter. We should gladly see the former well supplied; every honest man in Mississippi would rejoice at the latter."

CONSUMPTION.

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE.

BY J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted

DR. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S

SIMPLE TREATMENT.

And availed themselves of his wonderful efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen. Dr. Schenck has, in his own case, proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made a representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicine is as simple as it is unifying. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-evidencing, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the enemy of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of two cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. The result is the morbid action of the liver. Here, then, comes the optimizing result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of nature's noblest gifts—the Podophyllum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, purgative properties of calomel; but, unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucus deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpor. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Oxygenation is now progressing without the previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the great battle for suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonary Syrup is now to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and disposes the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and in a very short time, the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or the womanhood that was GIVEN UP AS A LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in warm rooms until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it can be prevented, or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that, cause loss their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, must get, because they are in the house, they must stay down quiet; they must walk about the room as much as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the cure, and is the great point to win.

To despair of cure, and after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of a new cure, and the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time.

"As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pain and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained strength and have never since been ill.

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a more skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., will continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer determines the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than: First, good appetite. Of returning health, hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough lessens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonary Syrup, as a curer of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonary Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cts. a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers. JOHN P. HENRY, 8 College Place, New York, Wholesale Agent.

A fine summer tonic in Hatter's Bitters—can be had at Pollock's.

STILL ONWARD AND UPWARD.

The extraordinary increase that has taken place in the sale of HATTER'S STOMACH BITTERS during the past year, is another proof that an intelligent people, although they may try all things, hold fast only to that which is good. No amount of puffery can lift inferior articles to the position of standard specifics. To use the words of Tom Paine, they may go up like a rocket, but are sure to come down ignominiously like its extinguished stick. Hundreds of such nostrums have gone up and come down since the introduction of Hatter's Stomach Bitters, nearly the fifth of a century ago. Yet it still remains the supreme tonic of the age. It has not, and never has had, a rival in efficacy or popularity, and now stands at the head of all proprietary remedies manufactured on this side of the Atlantic. In every civilized community on this continent, or in South America, it is the accepted remedy for dyspepsia, bilious complaints, constipation, general debility, nervous weakness, and many other unpleasant or dangerous maladies. A medicine so widely extended, is, of course, pirated and imitated by dealers without conscience or integrity.

Therefore, let every man and woman who desire to purchase the genuine Hatter's Stomach Bitters, see to it that they have what they pay for, and not the result of an infamous imposture. Look carefully at label, stamp, and name blown in the glass, and do not forget that the true bitters is sold in bottles only.
